Little Theater Soon to Open

The Carmel Little Theater is being built adjoining the present Arts and Crafts Hall, and will be completed about the middle of September. The building is sufficiently along at the present to give a good idea of its appearance when finished.

The building is 46 by 50 feet in size and will have a stage of 30 by 40 feet. Although not a large structure, the building will afford ample accommodations for many of the productions which are given in Carmel from time to time.

The seating arrangement is good. The floor is sloping and the stage raised so that a good view may be had from every part of the house.

The proescenium opening and arch of the stage will be one of the features of the theater. Much care is being exercised in its construction so that it will not only be beautiful but scientifically correct. There will be four exits to the building.

Michael Murphy is the contractor who is building the theater.

Coast Highway Work Continues

Contractor George Pollock, who is building the Carmel-San Simeon highway, is proceeding rapidly with the work.

The preliminary contract on which Pollock is now working, calls for 13 miles of the highway, south of the Big Sur. At present, the preliminary work, on the cuts and fills, is complete for about six miles, or nearly one-half the distance of the first contract.

Pollock has a large crew at work and three shovels in operation at present.

The work has extended to a point beyond the Castro place and will soon reach Boronda's property. Travel for trucks and autos of the company, and those having important business, is open as far as Castro's. The work is being pushed ahead with great speed so that much will have been accomplished by the time the winter rains set in.

It is an interesting sight to see the shovels at work. The first and largest one does all of the preliminary heavy work in making the cuts and filling in. When it has passed, the second shovel, somewhat smaller than the first, carries the work farther on.

Second Saslavsky-DeVoto Chamber Music Concert

The second Saslavsky-DeVoto chamber music recital, the last for this season, will take place at Arts and Crafts Hall next Friday evening. Those who heard the splendid performance of these two artists two weeks ago will need no further reminder of the treat in store.

The glowing review by David Alberto in last week's Pine Cone will give those who missed the first concert some idea of this exceptional opportunity to hear two very great artists. The outstanding comment upon the first recital is well summed up in Mr. Alberto's words:

"It is doubtful whether two other artists could more impressively personify the plane which remains so distinctive and apart from other mental experience, and which we term the realm of music."

Season ticket holders will exhaust half the seating of the hall. The remainder of the tickets are on sale at the studio of the Carmel Weavers.

The program will include works by Brahms and Dvorak, and a new work by Lazzari.

A Nation Mourns Its Chief

TODAY the nation mourns the death of its beloved President, Warren G. Harding, who passed away in San Francisco on Thursday evening.

Kindly, considerate, a gentleman and a patriot, highly respected by all, Warren Gamaliel Harding was a splendid type of American citizen. From a lowly position he rose to the highest, worthy to be the President of a great people and of a great country. The world is better because he lived.

On the capable shoulders of Calvin Coolidge has fallen the burden of a great office, having been sworn in on Thursday night by his father.

Sunday Concert Charming Affair

Never did Arts and Crafts Hall present a more hospitable welcome than on Sunday afternoon last, when the first of a series of informal musical gatherings was inaugurated.

The otherwise cheerless room was transformed by the color and life of its paintings, which represent the seventeenth annual exhibition of the work of Carmel artists, in whose interests these musical afternoons were planned.

John Northern Hilliard's splendid reading of the invocation, prologue and synopsis of episode one from Thomas Vincent Cator's music drama "The Soul of Sequoia," greatly enhanced the enjoyment of this woodland tone picture.

This was the first opportunity that a Carmel audience has had of hearing this music drama, which is full of rhythmical charm and easy flowing melody — beautifully illustrated by Mr. Cator at the piano. "The Soul of Sequoia" was written by Mr. Cator for the first annual play of the Sempervirens Club of California. It was produced in the summer of 1919 in the redwood park near Santa Cruz.

Roberta Armant Leitch, with Mr. Cator at the piano, sang a group of six songs. Seldom has her unusual lyric quality of voice and purity of tone been heard to better advantage. In "The Flower of Love," by Cator, both singer and composer expressed with great beauty the constant change of mood and dramatic climaxes of this most interesting song.

The simplicity and sincerity of the artists added greatly to the charm and informality of the afternoon, which was brought to a close by a cup of tea and a chat with friends.

The Sunday concert announced for August 12 is postponed to August 19. Mrs. Mabel Kegg and Thomas Vincent Cator will furnish the program.

Astronomer to Lecture

A lecture by James Worthington on eclipses, with special reference to the event of September 10th next, will be given at Arts and Crafts Hall next Thursday evening. George F. Beardsley will show lantern slides.

Local Sir-Cuss Taking Form

Patronesses of the Sir Cuss are: Mesdames M. E. Hand, Fanny Yard, Belle M. Kluegel, J. G. Hooper, C. H. Yates, G. Blackman, P. C. Prince, F. S. Brown, H. W. Turner, Susan Porter, C. A. McCollom, W. P. Silva, F. G. Williams, W. C. Watts, M. G. Young, Calvin Hogle, W. T. Kibbler, Perry Newberry, Helen Meuth, J. B. Jordan, and F. R. Bechdolt.

Misses Laura Diersen, I. A. Johnson, J. M. Culbertson, Mary Stewart, Ellen O'Sullivan, Alice Birdseye, and M. DeNeale Morgan.

Plans for next Saturday's Sir-cuss are well under way. Headquarters have been established in the Storie building at Ocean avenue and Dolores street. Everyone who has an idea is requested to call and give it into the keeping of the Sir-Cuss committee.

Joe Mora and Jack Jordan are issuing an open challenge for a pota to race on the beach at 11 o'clock on Sir-Cuss Day. There will also be horse racing by the sad sea waves. Leave names at headquarters.

Gifts of fog horns, buzz saws and other hideous noise-makers will be appreciated by Perry Newberry, the Human Calliope.

Any Carmel freak not yet having been assigned to side-show, please report, stating, age, color and previous condition of servitude.

Wanted: Cappers for Pea and Shell game. Apply George Kegg.

Well trained weenies that will keep quiet and not bark will be given prominent places.

Information wanted as to the present whereabouts of Buffalo Bill. Communicate with parade committee.

Tom Reardon is looking for a good front legs of an elephant, one that can climb a tree preferred.

The baloon will go up at 1; the parade will go down at 2, the side-shows will go all afternoon, and the dance will begin at 9.

The other day there was almost a panic on Ocean avenue. It was Mattie Hopper blowing the siren on her car, but everybody thought it was Perry Newberry practicing for his Human Calliope stunt, and they were afraid he had broken something.

Kit Overstreet would like to get track of another Gypsy for her band of panhandlers.

There are two or three people in town who have not volunteered to take part in the Barnum. They'll be useful, however; we need an audience.

The Keno concession has not yet been placed.

Peninsula Expo. Next Month

The Monterey Peninsula Industries and Art Exposition to be held September 1, 2, 3 and 4th promises to be the largest and most successful since the plans for this annual fete have been inaugurated last year.

Merchants over the entire Monterey Peninsula have pledged their en[illegible] business in Monterey, Pacific Grove or Carmel that is not represented by exhibition space and still with a large margin of time for additional applications to come in.

Aside from the commercial end of the fair, the Peninsula's accomplishments in an artistic [illegible] also be exhibited. At last year's fair, the art exhibit was one of the features and attracted a great deal of attention.

Children's Play Prettily Done

The annual children's play of the Forest Theatre has come and gone, Helen Coale Crew's "The Cradle," a thirteenth century tapestry, colorful, simple and sincere, has left with us a delightful sensation of something accomplished to add to the long list of successes of our out-door theatre.

John Hilliard and Blanche Tolmie, the producers, were particularly fortunate in having a most sympathetic and intelligent cast. Sympathetic as to the theme; intelligent as to the artifices of the stage.

The role of the gentle St. Francis fitted well the capabilities of Evan Mosher, much more so than the character he assumed in "Kismet," and he won the hearts of his audience.

As prince and as jester, Henry Meade Williams did an admirable piece of work. What he did he did with his whole heart, conscientiously and in rapport. Welcome to the Forest Theatre.

John Hilliard was the court fool, and while there is some adverse criticism of his interpretation of the part, there can be nothing but praise for his acting. Sometimes we closed our eyes and saw Hajj.

Tesso and Tasso, the lovers, flitted before us in the persons of Helen Remsen and Jack Flanner. They did their small parts well.

Charles P. Deems as Cardinal Vanelli, in voice and gesture was dignified and convincing.

Mrs. John Williams as Chiara, the child nun, had a difficult role to handle and many lines to read. Her work is to be commended.

Thomas Bickle, as the friar, was very real, exchanging pleasantries with his fellows, and his hearty laugh at the beginning of the play put the audience in good humor, and receptive.

John B. Jordan as the inn-keeper was well cast. His playing gets better and better.

Dance, Play Bridge, or Have Fortune Told

The Carmel Humane Society has made all arrangements for the benefit bridge and dance party in Arts and Crafts Hall on Tuesday, August 14. The dance will begin at 9 o'clock and tables for bridge on the stage will be ready at 8. Though it is not necessary to reserve a table, it would be well to notify Dr. Amelia Gates by letter, or phone 741 M. Just bring your own party or request that a table be filled out.

Besides the above amusements, there is promised a palm-reading booth, where Miss Fanny Reeves will reveal the past, present and future.

Some of the ladies who have consented to act as patrons and chaperones for the affair are: Mrs. Charles Stanton, Mrs. James Hopper, Mrs. Paul Prince, Mrs. Phil Wilson, Jr., Mrs. Hobart Glassell, Mrs. Edward Kluegel, Mrs. Lucy Hayward, Mrs. Allen Griffin, Mrs. Florence Brown, Mrs. William Watts, Mrs. George Seideneck, Mrs. Paul Flanders, Mrs. Edward Kuster, Mrs. Thomas Grieves, Mrs. Julia Snow, Mrs. John Jordan, Mrs. Arthur Markart, Mrs. Armstrong, Mrs. Phil Gordan, Mrs. Bernice Warren, Mrs. Richard Johnson, Mrs. Paul Mitchell, Mrs. Herman Spoehr, Mrs. S. Schuyler, Mrs. J. A. Manning, Mrs. Joseph Hend, Mrs. Michael J. Murphy, Mrs. E. Teate, and Mrs. L. A. Nares and Mrs. Mark Daniels of Pebble Beach.

On Wednesday of this week the Carmel Boys' Club held an election for officers to serve three months. The elected were: President, Glenn Leidig (second term); vice-president, Hart Rogers; secretary, Alex Spoehr; yell leader, Scott Douglas (third term; baseball manager, Clayton Leitch.

Von Stroheim Against Censorship

"Can a tailor make a suit of clothes that will fit equally well the small boy and grown man?" asks Eric Von Stroheim, motion picture director, in discussing film censorship.

Censors demand every picture satisfy equally well the brain and understanding of the small child and grown up human being, von Stroheim feels. Books that were never censored when made into films are cut up by every censor differently and then people wonder why the director didn't follow the story!

Angry authors and angry lovers of the book declare the director failed to keep anything but the name, von Stroheim said. The director has to condense to dramatize, to try to dodge the censor, to please the demand for a box office attraction, and then when he has done his "darnest" von Stroheim would use a stronger word—the censors get busy. Too, the picture houses often use the scissors also. A film may seem a little long or perhaps some local talent is going to be sandwiched in and the picture must be cut. Then screen fans and others not fans get busy with the hammer.

The Spingarn Medal, which is given annually for the most distinguished achievement by a Negro, has been awarded to Dr. George Washington Carver, of Tuskegee Institute. Dr. Carver developed 165 by-products of the peanut and 115 of the sweet potato. The medal was awarded to Dr. Carver "in consideration of his services in agricultural chemistry, his recent recognition by a British royal society and for lectures on agriculture during the last year before white and Negro audiences, particularly in the South, where his clear thought and straightforward attitude have greatly increased interracial knowledge and respect."

There Are Many Versions, However

No mention is to be found in the archives of the government or private individuals in Seville and Madrid of the California territory, before the year 1652, according to Henry R. Wagner, who spoke before the California Historical Society in Berkley last week. Wagner, whose subject was "Early History of California From the Spanish Point of View," has spent the last few months in Spain doing historical research work relating to the early history of this State. According to the speaker, there are still thousands of manuscripts in Spain, telling of the rule of Spanish people in the new world. Of these manuscripts Wagner brought back copies of nearly 1000. He was unable to shed any light upon the origin of the name "California."

Of the 2,000 actors engaged in the various legitimate productions in the New York theater, during the season now drawing to a close, about ten per cent are Jews. Forty per cent of the sixty-odd so-called American plays produced were written by Jews. The plays eventually produced were brought on to the stages of theaters of which more than half are either owned or controlled by Jews. And after a New York run these plays are booked on the road by organizations which are practically one hundred per cent Jewish—Dearborn Independant.

Details Harrison Library Bequest

Concerning the location of the proposed Ralph Chandler Harrison Memorial Library, the following letter to the City Clerk, Miss Saidee Van Brower, will be of much interest:

Miss Conway and Mr. Robert W. Harrison and I have received your letters communciating to each of us the request of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea that we state what we believe to have been the wishes of Mrs. Ella Reid Harrison with regard to the Memorial Library for which she made provision in her will.

I assume that the Trustees are acquainted with the provisions of Mrs. Harrison's will bequeathing "for the purpose of building the Ralph Chandler Harrison Memorial Library", $20,000 in bonds of the City and County of San Francisco, certain lots in Block 72 of Carmel-by-the Sea, and all the books and furniture marked "Library," stored in the warehouse of the Pierce-Rodolph Storage Company in San Francisco. She desired that the books and furniture so referred to should be placed and kept in the Library when completed.

In addition to books and furniture we have found in the same warehouse a large box marked "Library," containing a number of articles, which may be described as examples of the art of various countries, and also a number of etchings and other prints.

Mrs. Harrison desired such etchings or some of them to be framed for the decoration of the interior walls of the Library.

An inventory has been taken of the furniture and other articles intended for the library which have been found in the warehouse of the Pierce-Rodolph Storage Company. The furniture consists of four large mahogany bookcases with glass doors and two mahogany armchairs. The books are packed in sundry boxes marked "Library."

A catalogue of such books, prepared in the lifetime of Mrs. Harrison, describes about 2000 items. She also owned a number of other books, which she intended for the library, but which were in her residence at Carmel at the time of her death, and unfortunately were destroyed by fire.

In a letter written by her to Mr. Robert W. Harrison, which was admitted to probate last November as a part of her will, she refers to a plan for the library as being in a certain trunk, but no such plan has been discovered among her effects, and we are forced to the conclusion that the plan to which she so referred must have been in the house at the time of her death and therefore must have been destroyed with the other contents of the house.

Mrs. Harrison in her lifetime, however, had discussed with various persons, and particularly with Miss Conway, her intentions and desires regarding the library; and while we have nothing in the way of any drawing or written description indicating in concrete form what her wishes were, we are able to say that we know of certain features which she would have incorporated, if she had lived to see the library built, as she undoubtedly hoped to do.

She repeatedly expressed an intention to have the exterior of the building resemble the old Custom House at Monterey; but without the wooden balconies which that building now has. With reference to the interior of the building, I am unable to state how she intended to have it arranged, except that we know that she planned to have, in addition to a main room, and a room for reference books, a separate reading room for children, and in the latter a collection of books for children.

There are a number of books of that character among the books now in the warehouse of the Pierce-Rodolph Storage Company in San Francisco. Mrs. Harrison doubtless expected that from time to time other books of the same character would be added to that department of the library, just as she undoubtedly expected additions to be made from time to time to the general collection of books.

She wanted the management and maintenance of the library to be entrusted to a board of library trustees, residents of Carmel-by-the-Sea, whose tenure of office would be reasonably permanent, and who could be relied upon to see that the plan or scheme in accordance with which the library was to be established would be carried out.

She especially and emphatically insisted that she desired the library to be a memorial to her husband, Judge Ralph Chandler Harrison, and that therefore she did not want it to form a part of any combination or consolidation with any other library.

She probably contempated that the site of the building would be on the land which she bequeathed to the City of Carmel--by-the-Sea but there is nothing in the wording of her will which purports to restrict the trustees in the selection of a site. We have not the slightest doubt that she would have heartily approved, as we certainly do, the suggestion which has been advanced to the effect that the library be erected on Block 69, now owned by the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, having been acquired by it since the date of her will.

That would make it possible to use the proceeds of the lots in Block 72 as a fund for the maintenance and upkeep of the library.

Yours very truly,

RICHARD C. HARRISON.

The above expresses to the best of my ability what Mrs. Harrison's wishes were.

LET'S HAVE A FULL DISCUSSION

The most valuable part of Senator Hiram Johnson's recent New York speech is the passage in which he calls for genuine discussion of foreign affairs, and for giving the people a real opportunity to vote on them. He says:

"Let's have no pretense, let's make the issue so plain that even some of our most distinguished statesmen cannot dodge it. I do not agree at all with the views of Mr. Justice Clarke and Mr. Hamilton Holt (exponents of the league) and their associates; I do heartily agree with them on one thing: If our foreign policy is to come before our people, let it come frankly, fairly, honestly and let the people decide whether they wish to participate in the European political mess or follow the policy that has thus far been ours; that has brought us our fame, our prosperity, our happiness and our glory."

IMPROVING THE MOVIES

There is a great deal of talk and agitation about "improving the movies." The Palmer Photoplay Corporation, which is doing its bit in this line by attempting to develop a new school of screen writers, trained to write directly for the shadow medium, points out that the public has one powerful remedy in its hands. It also appeals to that public not to condemn motion pictures in general, now or in the future, because of frequent disappointments in one type of screen offering.

Research by the Committee for Better Films, of the National Board of Review, conducted independently, reveals the cause of this disappointment, and what is more, points out a remedy. The committee states concerning the film version of a certain widely-read published story: "Those who were pleased had not read the book, and those who were disappointed had read the book." This investigation was conducted in twenty-seven cities of the United States.

There is a temptation to see what the film producer has made of one's favorite story, but the continual disappointments (due to the spectator's knowing the plots in advance and thereby being robbed of the dramatic elements of surprise and suspense) have resulted in a critical attitude of the public toward all screen entertainment. The way to avoid this sort of disappointmnt is, first, of course, to see photoplays that are written directly for the screen if they are available; if not, to see an "adaptation" whose published original you have not read.

WHY PAY AT ALL?

Governor Richardson ought to be very happy knowing that the teachers of the San Francisco State Teachers' College are giving their services for nothing to the summer session in order to make up for the deficit caused by his refusal to allow sufficient money for the department of education. The governor ought to be happy, for thus, under his thrifty regime, the state gets something for nothing.

It might be a good idea to push the thing to its logical conclusion and have the teachers all over the state work the entire year for nothing.—San Jose News.

An interesting visitor here this week is Miss Kativel Chadbourne of Minneapolis. She is interested in Y. W. C. A. and missionary work, and was in China during the time Mrs. Kip was there.

Mrs. Mark Daniels entertained two tables for bridge and tea on Tuesday at her home in Pebble Beach. Those present were Mrs. J. Rittenhouse, Mrs. L. A. Nares, Mrs. Bresot, Mrs. Byington Ford, Mrs C H. Yates.

Bishop Edward Lamb Parsons will preach and celebrate the holy communion at All Saints' church at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. A solo, "The Plains of Peace," will be sung during the offertory by Mrs. R. W. Benard.

Mrs. David J. Gilmore, an interesting speaker connected with the W. C. T. U. of San Francisco, will spend a couple of days in Carmel as the guest of Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Sturge. She will address the meeting in Carmel Church tomorrow evening.

T. A. Oakes, builder of the post-office building, the Oakes building and the Englund residence in this city, is defendant in an action brought to recover about $1500 for material and labor supplied in erecting the Oakes building. The plaintiff, C. D. Caspers, is represented by Trent & Campbell.

The last reading of Arnold Bennett's "Mr. Prohack" before the Reading Circle, will take place next Monday evening, when the next author to be read will be decided on. Thackery has been suggested. Although nine of Dickens' works have been read, there are a number who desire to continue with him.

W. F. Whittaker and family are here from Bakersfield for the entire month; they have the Friaut cottage. Five times in Carmel in six years for them. Also here from the same city are Everett King and family, who have as [illegible] Owen and Howard Yates. They are domiciled in the Phelps cottage.

Among those who extended greetings to General John J. Pershing during his recent visit to Del Monte were Mrs. Cornelius Gardener and daughters, who are passing the season in the Shiell bungalow here. General Pershing's wife and children and the family of Colonel Gardener were closely associated during service at Fort McKinley, P. I.

Memorial to Author of Popular Songs

Six descendants of Stephen C. Foster, author and composer of "My Old Kentucky Home" and many other American folk-classics, were present when the old Rowan house, Bardstown, Ky., said to have inspired the song, was dedicated as a memorial. The house, known as "Federal Hill," was built by Judge John Rowan, a relative of Foster, and is one of the oldest and best examples of colonial architecture in the state. Foster is said to have visited it many times and to have written the song there. It has been purchased by public subscription and presented to the state.

Mrs. Ernest A. Reed, of Pelham, N. Y., and Mrs. A. D. Rose, of Pittsburgh, grand-daughters of Foster, Miss Dorothy Jane Ross, and Miss Dallas Clayland Ross, great grand-daughters; Matthew Welsh, a grand-son, and William Barclay Foster, a nephew, came to Bardstown to take part in the exercise. The day was also the ninety-seventh anniversary of the poet-composer's birth.

Mrs. Marian Foster Welsh, Foster's daughter, still lives in Pittsburgh, where he was born. Other descendants of Foster, now living, are Marshall Foster Reed and Virginia Clarissa Reed, great grand-children. Marshall Foster Reed bears a striking resemblance to his great grand-father, and is said to inherit his humor and musical talent.

Five thousand persons attended the dedication of "Federal Hill." Mayor William A. Magee of Pittsburgh, and members of the Pittsburgh city council and Chamber of Commerce, were among the delegation from that city. The City of Pittsburgh presented a bronze tablet to be placed on the Rowan homestead, and the Chamber of Commerce presented an oil portrait of Foster. Hon. Edwin P. Morrow, Governor of Kentucky, was the principal speaker.

Board Considers Highway Paving

Consideration of a proposition to repair and improve San Carlos highway from the northern to the southern city boundaries was the main motif for a special meeting of the city trustees last Monday night.

Allen Griffin informed the board that the county's road making equipment, now in use on Carmel Hill, was available for the city's use on the San Carlos improvement. Mayor William T. Kibbler was empowered to consult with Supervisor J. L. D. Roberts concerning the matter.

Trustee Perry Newberry was instructed to ascertain the cost of putting in shape the concrete edges along the park spaces on Ocean avenue in repair.

The city marshal was directed to procure traffic signs.

A letter was read from the executors of the Ella Reid [illegible] concerning the library location, which letter is printed in another part of this issue.

Prominent Artists Sketching in Carmel

Mr. and Mrs. R. Clarkson Colman of Laguna Beach are in Carmel for several weeks' sketching. Mr. Colman is one of California's best known marine painters. He is one of the organizers of the Laguna Beach Art Association, and is vice-president.

The July number of International Studio has an article by Stephen Chalmers on Colman's paintings and poems. One of the illustrations is a painting of Point Lobos. Mrs. Colman is state chairman of art, California Federation of Women's Clubs.

A FEW YEARS AGO

property could be purchased in

Carmel-by-the-Sea

at prices far below those of the present day

Carmel-by-the-Sea has grown beyond all predictions of a few years ago.
And prices have kept step with that growth.

Carmel-by-the-Sea is growing faster today than ever before.
If you could purchase property today in Carmel-by-the-Sea at prices of a few years ago, you would hesitate before overlooking that opportunity.

TODAY

you are offered the opportunity of buying Carmel property at "old prices." Suitable available land for subdivision in Carmel is about exhausted. The opportunity offered today may not occur again.

CARMEL WOODS

is the ninth addition to the constantly growing town of Carmel-by-the-Sea, the most celebrated center of art and letters on the Pacific Coast.

CARMEL WOODS is [illegible] one side and Pebble Beach on the other. Magnificent pines and oaks and luxuriant undergrowth make Carmel Woods a region of native loveliness, admirably adapted for the homes of those who love nature and find in the healthful climate, the romantic mission history and the cultured atmosphere of Carmel-by-the-Sea their ideal of a permanent dwelling place.

CARMEL WOODS is a residence subdivision, with reasonable restrictions recommended by the town trustees and town planning commission of Carmel-by-the-Sea. These restrictions are designed to assure every purchaser a congenial environment.

CARMEL WOODS is traversed by roads that wind through the pines and oaks, opening up vistas of irresistible charm, making the homesites accessible, and at the same time emphasizing the note of seclusion so dear to those who seek homes on the Monterey Peninsula. These roads are all forty feet wide and for twenty feet of their width they are surfaced and graveled.

Water in abundance and electricity have been brought to every homesite.

Individual lots can be purchased for as little as $350.00
Reasonable terms if desired.

Words Without Meaning—

For example—The word "Exclusive."

It means nothing unless backed by a product whose name means a whole lot. There are dozens of makes of men's clothing for which we prefer that some other store claim exclusive control in this city. But for Stein-Bloch Smart Clothes we are not only glad but proud to claim exclusive representation.

Get There Early or—Get Left

The only disgruntled person at the marionette show the first two days this week was a dear old lady—and she was mad because she couldn't get in. There were a good many more in the same boat, and that's why these very charming and delightful people are going to "Cinderalla" again this afternoon and evening.

If you get there early enough, you may get a seat—a real seat; but if you're late, you'll have to sit on kegs of nails, boxes, wood blocks, etc. That's what they had to do at all four performances on Monday and Tuesday. If you do get left, you may see the show next Wednesday night at Hotel Del Monte.

It's queer, the little feet of these puppets dance on your very heart-strings. For the time being they are all that the world holds of romance. You sob with Cindeaella and hiss the wicked sisters. A whole gamut of emotion is run in Pixie's plaintive m-e o-w-e, and when the Piper whirls around on his little slender legs, you feel that art has reached its final triumph.

Prince Charming is all that a courtly, high-bred gentleman should be. True, he gets pretty fresh—(My Dear, he kissed Cinderella after just a few minutes' acquaintance) — but what mere male could resist such a golden-haired vision? No man in Carmel need throw stones.

One lady said that the show took fifty years off her age. She went in with the cares of sixty and came out with the heart of ten. The world is really better and happier because these marionettes have lived.

All the essential news of the art colony in the Pine Cone every week. Two dollars a year.

Phone 89

A few minutes on the phone and week's washing is out of the way.

That's our family washing service.

Instead of the long tedious hours spent at back-breaking work, or in supervising a laundress, you will have the leisure you've always wanted.

All you have to do is to gather up everything that needs washing—including blankets, curtains, wash-rugs—and turn them over to our route man.

Promptly, on a secified day, your goods Will be returned to you sweet and clean, laundered the way you would have it done—your garments and linen carefully folded, ready to use or put away.

You'll find this service most reasonable, especially when you consider the time and worry it saves you.
